Dear Readers!

Episteme, an online Journal, again presents before you the magic of words flowing from the pen of the writers. It gives me immense pleasure in presenting to you the 29th issue of our e-zine featuring contributions from 10 nations.

The research articles highlight the current topics from various fields. Moving forward, the poems with their lyrics create magic in the heart of readers. The issue is enriched with short stories, fiction, reviews, India in Translation and many more.

It is said that "One father is more than a hundred schoolmasters."

- George Herbert

On the eve of Father's Day, Manzar Imam through his Memoir highlights the importance of father as a pillar of family who gives strength to grow.

The issue contains a special section, Painting to provide pleasure and happiness for the readers by Mr. Sonjaye Maurya, a renowned artist and a member of Indian Art Promoter. He is recipient of many award and recognitions.

We are grateful to all our contributors, Management and Patron who has ceaselessly worked for the success of this endeavor. This also gives me an opportunity to request all the contributors from various nations to contribute to the e-zine through their marvelous work and enhance its value for the readers.

Happy Father's Day!
