

COURAGE AND OTHER POEMS

By Faiza Abid

Why am I worried?

Don't I have courage?

To fight against the odds

To walk the inaccessible roads

To unfold the Nature's secrets

To be cynosure and Beatrice.

Why am I worried?

Don't I have courage?

To dispel out the darkness

To shun away the harshness

To stand out as a deviant

Against terrors and be a lenient.

Why am I worried?

Don't I have courage?

When I know I'll be purgated

Will be elevated and never subjugated

Faith of having God above

To be symbolic of peace as dove.

Why am I worried?

Don't I have courage?

When I know Courage is a state of mind

Of moving ahead leaving fears behind.

Courage is an armor to cope up

To fight, to shine and pope up.

I being a mentor

Recommend you a lesson for sure

Wear courage as a magic up your sleeve

Explore life that has secrets to relieve.

THE CLOSE

Thou gave me

Full thirty years to live

To enjoy thy blessings

I proved an ungrateful wretch

Wastes thy gifts

And never feel guilt

Being a culprit

Now at the close

I have only remorse

That cannot suffice

To apologize

But thy Mercy is boundless

For the sins countless

Turn my woe in ease

Tilt the balance for me

Make my death a blessing

For me and

For those who are after me

Cessation

How sweet are the breaths of peace

The pain that release

The relief when fever subsides

The joy of health

The clam after storm

Fresh breeze after dew

May it be the same

Every now and then

Free of all stress and stain

Throwing away the dread

But all the gain certainly

Is through patience and prayer?

And His continuous remembrance

For the cessation of brutal reality

Bio

Ms .Faiza Abid is a passionate and dedicated person who takes up and fulfills responsibility with utmost enthusiasm. She is the Lecturer at University of Management and Technology. She has completed .M. Phil Applied Linguistics and currently planning to pursue her doctoral degree. She enjoys interacting people and helping them out. People find her quite pleasant possessing excellent communication and presentation abilities. She is successful English Language instructor and strives for perfection.