

THE SEASHORE

By Neelam Chandra

On the shore of the sea I rest
Drinking the ocean of silence
And like a drunken man I dance
Entranced and lost in happiness!

The winds harp a poignant tune
The waves play a soulful melody
The seagulls join in the chorus
The night passes by nimbly...

The moon peeps and is bewitched
To hear the heart touching jingles
How can it stay so far far away?
Into the bosom of the sea it nestles!

By the scene's splendour mesmerized
I drop all my masks and veils
And like a enticed maiden I swallow
Sanguinity from the life's pails!

Bio:

NeelamSaxena Chandra completed her Engineering in Electronics & Power Engineering from V.N.I.T., Nagpur and went on to finish PG Dip in IM & HRD and PG Dip in Finance Mgmt. She is a bureaucrat working with Indian Railways. She shares from an incurable passion of writing poetry and fiction. Around six hundred of her stories/poems have been

Episteme: an online interdisciplinary, multidisciplinary & multi-cultural journal

Bharat College of Arts and Commerce, Badlapur, MMR, India

Volume 4, Issue 2

September 2015

published in various leading Indian as well as international magazines, anthologies and journals. Many of her stories/poems have been transmitted by Akashwani (Radio) also. Neelam was recently nominated in the list of 78 most well-known authors in India by Forbes for the year 2014 <http://forbesindia.com/printcontent/39097>.

EPISTEME